Solstice Pod Enterprise Unlimited vs. Crestron AirMedia 2.0
Feature Comparison

		Mersive Solstice Pod Unlimited	Crestron AirMedia 2.0
User Capabilities	Max number of posts on screen	Unlimited	4
	Max number of posts on screen from single user	Unlimited	1
	Industry leading UI	Yes	No
	Drag-and-drop control of content on screen	Yes	No
	Customizable layout of content on screen	Yes	No
	Moderator preview and control	Yes	No preview
	Desktop and application window streaming	Yes	Desktop only
	iOS mirroring	Yes	Yes
	Android mirroring	Yes	Yes
	Video file playback from local hard drive	Yes	No
	Compatible with touch displays	Yes	Crestron Only
	Sync multiple rooms into same meeting	Yes	No
IT Deployment/ Management	Centralized, one-to-many management	Yes	Yes
	Configurable WAP mode	Yes	No
	Access for both guest & employee networks via secure dual-network mode (out of box, no bridging required)	Yes	No
	Includes room scheduling via calendar integration	Yes	No
	Quality of service (QoS)	Yes	No
	Comprehensive 3rd party integration API	Yes	No
	Emergency and display banner messaging	Yes	No
	Future-proof software upgrade path	Yes	No

Takeaways

- Solstice is a more capable and performant solution for both end users and technology managers. Solstice's superior enterprise management tools and integration options make it more deployable and manageable at scale.

- AirMedia suffers from poor usability and the product development cycles are slow compared to Solstice's software release schedule, which adds features rapidly and delivers new value to Solstice customers.

Learn more at www.mersive.com/why-solstice

Available from B2B Online Portal
cneAV.eu